

Getting to Know You: Jenny Rogers

Jenny Cobb was born in Rochester, MN. She lived most of her childhood in De Pere Wisconsin, a small city near Green Bay where she attended high school. She graduated from the University of Wisconsin at Stevens Point with a B.A. in Arts Management and a minor in Communications.

In 2007 she married Mike Rogers, a landscape architect, who also attended De Pere High School. They lived in Baltimore, MD where Jenny worked for Rogue Catering Co. and the Bank of America as a teller.

After their daughter, Lucy, was born in 2009, the Rogers decided to move. They came to Mt. Desert Island in 2010. The Horvath family introduced them to St. Mary's, and they have been here ever since. Their son Ethan was born in 2012.

Jenny's first job here was with the MDI YMCA, and she has worked at Bar Harbor Bank and Trust. Presently she is the Administrative Assistant in the main office at MDI High school. She attributes her attention to detail and her organizational abilities to her training to work behind the curtain as a dramatic arts manager in college. "I have enjoyed working at all of these places because I think I have met everyone on the island now!"

Jenny is always ready to help. She has many talents. In addition to a full time job at the High School, Jenny takes minutes for vestry meetings, she serves on the Stroud Committee, and she regularly contributes to church coffee hour – very popular, as she is a great baker. When she has free time, Jenny sews and appliqués baby bibs, burp cloths, and dishtowels.

Mike Rogers is one of the founders of LARK Studio (www.la-rk.com), a landscape design and construction firm in Bar Harbor. They have developed a conceptual design for Cottage Street in Bar Harbor and are working on the design of some parks in Cambridge, MA.

We are very lucky that Jenny, Mike, Lucy and Ethan are part of our community – even if Mike is still a Green Bay Packers fan.
